

The Department of Art History is now accepting submissions for the Grafton D. Trout Scholarship

One art history major will be awarded $1,700 toward travel expenses to participate in a Summer 2019 study abroad program.

Grafton D. Trout, a friend of the Art History Department, was known for his insatiable love for languages and cultures. His vast knowledge of art, film, world history, literature, politics and other topics rivaled only his drive to know and understand more. He cherished opportunities to engage with people, making friends everywhere he went. During his retirement Grafton remained highly engaged with the university, attending lectures, receptions, films, and performances several times each week. Those who knew him marveled at his zest for life and looked forward to welcoming his kindness, ideas, and wisdom.

The Art History Department is delighted to accept applications for the Grafton D. Trout Scholarship. One Art History major will be awarded $1,700 toward travel expenses to participate in a Summer 2019 study abroad program.

To apply, please email the following to dpcase@indiana.edu with the subject line "Grafton D. Trout Scholarship" by Friday, April 5:

1. Art History GPA
2. Personal statement (max 750 words) describing your interest in art history, the study abroad program you will be attending, and how that program will enrich your research interests.
3. At least one recommendation from a faculty member emailed directly from that professor.

A committee of faculty members will select and announce the winner by April 12. The scholarship will be disbursed to the winning student's bursar account after the award ceremony on May 3.
