Select courses as follows (15 credits total):

One Italian class is required. Students may not earn more than one semester's worth of Italian language (e.g. FRIT-M 100, 150, 200, or 250) on this program.

1. Choose only one course from the 3-week Session I list (3 credits) (required)
2. Choose at least one course from the 11-week Semester list (3-12 credits)
3. Optional: Choose any courses from the remaining 3-week Session II, III, and IV to add up to 15 credits total
 - a. Note: If you already have 15 credits between step 1 and 2, you do not need to choose additional courses

Review the following notes!

Important Notes:

- The articulations below indicate the IU-Bloomington equivalent credit. Please check the program's site for the most up-to-date course offerings.
 - Florence University of the Arts may change the course offerings at any time prior to the start of the program. An updated list of available classes will be available at the time you register for classes. Do not make independent travel plans based on the session info on this equivalency list.
 - The 3-week session classes are intensive and may have classes on the weekends
- Courses at Florence University of the Arts are numbered:
 - 100–299 for lower-division courses,
 - 300–399 for upper-division courses, and
 - 400–499 for introductory courses to graduate studies.
 - As for the letters, in “LA HS MI 280,” for example:
 - the first pair represents the college within the University (LA=Liberal Arts);
 - the second, the department within the college (HS=History); and
 - the third, the course within the department (MI=Modern Italy)
- Students may choose to take Special Project Experiential Learning (SPEL) courses. These are similar to a practicum, where students are placed in a local organization while also attending classes. Students learn by doing and observing the assigned tasks while receiving academic supervision. Please note these courses allow for one-on-one interaction with your faculty member with independent assignments, though there may be 1-5 students in your cohort. If your program spans multiple sessions, you may want to consider this in later sessions versus your first session to allow you to acclimate and socialize upon arrival.
 - IU does not grant academic credit for the courses titled Internship or Experiential Learning, so please read the course catalog carefully to review only the Special Project Experiential Learning (SPEL) options. Students will earn FRST-F 400 for SPEL courses, no matter which discipline.

- Course Fees: Some courses require additional fees ranging from approximately $50 – $320 for various supplies, texts, and lab use. These fees apply to some courses in the School of Fine Arts, Squola, School of Sciences and Mathematics, and the School of Liberal Arts. This charge will need to be paid directly to FUA upon arrival to the university.
- Some courses may carry pre-requisites; be sure to check the Florence University of the Arts Course Catalog to determine eligibility.
